So Deadly, So Perverse: Giallo-Style Films From Around the World, Vol. 3-Troy Howarth The giallo--a specifically Italian brand of lurid thriller--emerged in the 1960s and became a commercial force to be reckoned with throughout the 1970s. While not all of these films achieved the success and notoriety as the most popular efforts by the likes of Mario Bava, Dario Argento or Lucio Fulci, they nevertheless proved to be immensely popular--with latter-day entries emerging well into the 21st century. They also proved to be influential on films from across the globe; for instance, they helped to set the stage for the slasher movie boom of the late 70s and early 80s, and they would go on to inspire contemporary filmmakers looking to pay homage to their baroque excesses. So Deadly, So Perverse: Volume 3 shines a light on some of these films, some of which are well-known for capturing the off-kilter vibe of these beloved cult classics, and some of which display an influence in more surprising ways. Covering titles produced everywhere from America and Great Britain to Turkey and Japan, this final volume in the So Deadly, So Perverse trilogy offers a final summation of the genre and its lasting cult popularity and appeal. In addition to in-depth coverage of an eclectic range of titles, there are also a number of deliciously sensational and exploitative images, many in full color.The giallo--a specifically Italian brand of lurid thriller--emerged in the 1960s and became a commercial force to be reckoned with throughout the 1970s. The Cosmology of Bing-Mitch Cullin 2015-04-14 At Eric's Rotisserie, Bing sat outside by himself, nursing white zinfandel beneath the large sunshade that jutted from the center of his table, while blustery wind roamed across campus—swirling dead leaves and bits of trash around the chairs and tables, flapping the awnings on the massive umbrellas. The weather kept the patio abandoned, and Bing preferred it that way—no chatty couples nearby, no loudmouth students talking about sports, or, even worse, popular music. On this chilly afternoon, he didn't care that he was alone. He didn't care that he'd left his coat in his office. And, for a moment, he almost didn't mind that his head wasn't quite screwed on tightly today. In The Cosmology of Bing Mitch Cullin offers a tale of intersecting lives during one school year in Houston: the college student and his artist roommate, the reclusive poet, the astronomer studying a supernova at a remote West Texas observatory, the young Japanese woman hopelessly in love with her gay friend—and at the center of this group is Bing Owen, a college professor who drowns his heartbreak, paranoia, and secret desires with alcohol. It's a darkly humorous novel about longing, buried feelings and muted relationships, forgotten poetry and thrown pies—in which the mysteries of love, the interconnectedness of individuals, and the inexplicable nature of attraction occupy the same microcosm as exploding stars, ghost lights, and specters from the past.

Deflowered (A First Time FFM Student Teacher Threesome)-Lolita Minx Long ago, way before I even met my man, Gary, I was only just developing into the open-minded, free-spirited woman I am today. Back then, at the tender age of eighteen, I had saved my body for the right guy. I didn't want a boy, like those in my class, I craved the attention of a real man. The only hitch was my friend Mary had also kept herself pure, for the same guy. At the graduation dance, we decided to compete for Mr. Blakely, the sexy twenty-something substitute teacher we'd set our sights on. Whoever he'd pick would get their prize: an amazing first time to remember for years to come. We never imagined that he would find himself unable to choose... This story contains first time sex between two slutty schoolgirls and their teacher. Please don't download if this offends you.

A Sporting Lexicon of the Fifteenth Century-David Scott-Macnab 2002-12-31 Instruction manuals on sporting themes were very popular in the late medieval period although they largely drew on much earlier sources. One such source is the J.B. Treatise, elements of which are found in twenty-five later texts, twenty-one of which are 15th century fieldsports manuals. In this study Macnab examines these sources in terms of the similarity and diversity of J.B. elements in them. With the central theme of hawking and hunting the J.B. Treatise contained a range of information and instruction including choosing a hawk, breeds of dog, hunting terms, carving terms, as well as more random and more moralistic advice.
