A Tick Tock Heart-David Vernon 2014 A Tick Tock Heart -- Twenty-two award-winning stories from the Stringybark Future Times Awards edited by David Vernon, e-book and paperback, Stringybark Publishing, Twenty-two award-winning short stories from the Stringybark Future Times Awards will propel you into a world beyond 2020. These stories will delight and intrigue you in this anthology of clever tales from Australian and international authors. Mika was elbow-deep in the torso of an android when the front door hissed open. She set her tools beside the robot carcass and headed for the desk at the front of the shop, weaving around precarious piles of android parts and ducking beneath the wires and bits of robot that hung from the ceiling. There was a girl standing behind the desk. She couldn't have been older than eighteen, with heliotrope hair and tanned skin, and she was glancing around at the shop behind the desk with a curious eye. "Welcome to Mika's Android Construction and Repair," Mika said, leaning on the desk. "I'm Mika. Shouldn't you be in school?" -- from 'Not Quite Normal' by Amy de Jong She moves to the window and watches the moon rise, a blood-orange ball balanced on the horizon, illuminating the place where the track first appears. Once, this track had been kept graded for the armies of tourists in their four-wheel-drives, but the tourists don't come anymore; the fuel is too precious and the wet seasons too long lasting to make it feasible to repair the roads. It is only possible to approach by hovercopter or on foot. The breeders always come on foot. -- from 'No Bigger than my Thumb' by Beverley Lello

The Tick-Tock Trilogy: Three Sensational Psychological Thrillers-David B. Lyons

2019-11-22 "This trilogy will blow you away" - Rubina Reads "These books aren't just memorable. They're unforgettable" - BooksFromDuskTillDawn The Tick-Tock Trilogy is a series of psychological thrillers, all told in real time. Get inside the heads of four characters during the same morning (Midday), afternoon (Whatever Happened to Betsy Blake?) and night (The Suicide Pact) as clocks tick towards drastic deadlines. "Lyons is an outstanding craftsman in the thriller genre" - bestselling author Andrew Barrett MIDDAY Vincent Butler has five hours to steal eight million euro from the four bank branches he manages in Dublin's city centre. If he doesn't - his partner of ten years, who is being held captive, will be killed. Vincent doesn't have long. Only until midday. ...And the clock is ticking. ☐☐☐☐ "Intense, addictive and incredibly clever" WHATEVER HAPPENED TO BETSY BLAKE? Private investigator Lenny Moon has five hours to find the answer to a question that has plagued grieving father Gordon Blake for decades: whatever happened to my daughter, Betsy? Lenny doesn't have long to investigate... only until Gordon is put under the knife for make-or-break heart surgery. ...And the clock is ticking. ☐☐☐☐ "One of the most gripping reads ever" THE SUICIDE PACT Ex-detective Helen Brennan has five hours to stop two teenage girls from ending their own lives, just as her son Scot did twenty-two years ago. The problem is she doesn't know who the teenage girls are. Or where they are. She only knows she has until midnight to save them. ...And the clock is ticking. ☐☐☐☐ "A heart-racing, palm-sweating, page turner" Each of the Tick-Tock Trilogy can be read as standalones, but do comprise cross-over characters and a unique race-against-time narrative. The Tick-Tock Trilogy is 900 pages of heart-thumping thriller drama. What the critics are saying about books in The Tick-Tock Trilogy "Gripping and high-octane" - Irish Mail on Sunday "Lyons' debut has a devastating twist in its tail" - Irish Independent "The best book of the year" - BooksFromDuskTillDawn "Really clever" - BookieWookie "My new favourite author" - RubinaReads "Lyons certainly knows how to nail a thriller" - Bestselling author Sharon Thompson "An outstanding craftsman in the thriller genre" - No. 1 Bestselling author Andrew Barrett "This year's must-read author" - Bestselling author Rob Enright.

Hearts Window-Son Of David 2012-09-01 Hearts window depicts how one LOVING heart can change many, many lives and really the only control we have is faith,, Ponder this quote. I will write my laws on their hearts and minds, this will be done. "GOD" powerful hey. I believe our HEARTS are a spiritual WINDOW looking inward. Our futures view. An internal brail witch once touched echoes emotional thoughts into reality. Like water touching a seed, love sprouts feelings to reach its maximum GLORY. The food source, composted emotional feelings and thoughts derived from blood, sweat and tears. The light source , truth and acceptance.

American Song: Songwriters, The complete companion to Tin Pan Alley Song-Ken Bloom 1996

American Song: Songwriters-Ken Bloom 1996 Burt Bacharach & Hal David-Robin Platts 2003 'Walk on by', 'I say a little prayer', 'What the world needs now is love', 'Raindrops keep fallin' on my head', 'Alfie', 'What's new, Pussycat?'... The songwriting team of Burt Bacharach and Hal David ruled the charts in the '60s, and their songs are still as popular as ever. Current artists such as Oasis, Barenaked Ladies, Elvis Costello and Ben Folds have revisited the Bacharach/David songbook, and their songs have been prominently featured in such hit movies as 'Austin Powers', 'My best friend's wedding' and 'The first wives club'. In 'Burt Bacharach & Hal

David - What the world needs now' author Robin Platts draws on archival research and his own interviews with Bacharach and David (and those who worked with them) to create an in-depth look at the duo's career. Platts tells the whole story of their songwriting partnership - from their first collaborations in the '50s through the massive successes of the '60s to their split in the early '70s and their brief reunions in the '90s. There is also coverage of the recent revival of interest in the Bacharach/David songbook, and the many contemporary artists who have been influenced by them and have recorded their songs. The book includes photos of vintage record sleeves, a detailed discography, chart information and a complete annotated list of every song Bacharach and David wrote together. The Suicide Pact: An Unforgettable Psychological Thriller-B. Lyons David 2019-08-28 Two teenage girls - disillusioned with their purpose in life decide to end it all. At midnight, they're going to take their own lives. And nobody can stop them. David Played a Harp-Ralph W. Johnson 2000 A history of a college town, Davidson, NC, told in autobiography by an African-American barber who lived a 20th century of unparalleled change. Ralph Johnson, 96, caught in the poverty-ridden rule of Jim Crow customs, tells of struggles against disadvantage, unbelievable today, to get ahead. Of frugal, intense personal discipline, correspondence courses, self-schooling and hard work. As he moved into the post world war II years and his efforts began to find some success - his 7-chair shop was one of the largest in the south -- he suddenly became the 1967 target of desegregation picketers who demanded he sacrifice his business to try to settle the centuries old curse of segregation. After a difficult, divisive struggle of a community with itself, Mr. Johnson's peacefully became the first publicly integrated barber shop anyone knew of in the South if not the nation and its demise followed shortly thereafter. Trying to understand what happened to him and why is a very personal puzzle in this eloquent, gripping life story as well as a life changing experience for any serious reader.

Ticktock-Dean Koontz 2007-06-15 Tommy Phan is a 30-year-old Vietnamese-American detective and novelist living in Southern California, and a chaser of the American Dream. He drives home his brand-new Corvette one day to discover a strange doll on his doorstep. It's a rag doll made entirely of white cloth, with no face or hair or clothes. Where the eyes should be, there are two crossed stitches of black thread. Five sets of crossed black stitches mark the mouth, and another pair form an X over the heart. He brings it into the house. That night, he hears an odd little popping sound and looks up to see the crossed stitches over the doll's heart breaking apart. When he picks up the doll, he feels something pulsing in its chest. Another thread unravels to reveal a reptilian green eye --and not a doll's eye, because it blinks. Tommy Phan pursues the thing as it scrambles away into his house -- and then is pursued by it as it evolves from a terrifying and vicious minikin into a hulking and formidable opponent bent on killing him. BONUS: This edition contains an excerpt from Dean Koontz's The City.

Tick Tock-James Patterson 2011-01-24 NYC's #1 detective, Michael Bennett, has a huge problem--the Son of Sam, the Werewolf of Wisteria and the Mad Bomber are all back. The city has never been more terrified! Tick--a killer's countdown begins A rash of horrifying crimes tears through the city, throwing it into complete chaos and terrorizing everyone living there. Immediately, it becomes clear that they are not the work of an amateur, but of a calculating, efficient, and deadly mastermind. Tick--Michael Bennett is on the chase The city calls on Detective Michael Bennett, pulling him away from a seaside retreat with his ten adopted children, his grandfather, and their beloved nanny, Mary Catherine. Not only does it tear apart their vacation, it leaves the entire family open to attack. Tock--your time is up Bennett enlists the help of a former colleague, FBI Agent Emily Parker. As his affection for Emily grows into something stronger, his relationship with Mary Catherine takes an unexpected turn. All too soon, another appalling crime leads Bennett to a shocking discovery that exposes the killer's pattern and the earth-shattering enormity of his plan. From the creator of the #1 New York detective series comes the most volatile and most explosive Michael Bennett novel ever.

The Tell-Tale Heart-Edgar Allan Poe 2020-08-26 Poe's preference for not naming his narrators is potent once again in "The Tell-Tale Heart", a story that is trying so hard to appear sane, but fails miserably in the end. With minute preparations, perfect calculations, and even more precise execution of the conceived gruesome act, the narrator successfully fulfils his purpose, only to be lost in a battle with his sanity and guilt afterwards. Backed by the numerous movie and theatrical adaptations, the story is considered one of Poe's most popular and critically acclaimed. Edgar Allan Poe (1809-1849) was an American poet, author, and literary critic. Most famous for his poetry, short stories, and tales of the supernatural, mysterious, and macabre, he is also regarded as the inventor of the detective genre and a contributor to the emergence of science fiction, dark romanticism, and weird fiction. His most famous works include "The Raven" (1945), "The Black Cat" (1943), and "The Gold-Bug" (1843).

"Repent, Harlequin!" Said the Ticktockman-Harlan Ellison 2016-07-12 Winner of the Hugo and Nebula Awards: A science fiction classic about an antiestablishment rebel set on overthrowing the totalitarian society of the future. One of science fiction's most antiestablishment authors rails against the accepted order while questioning blind obedience to the state in this unique pairing of short story and essay. "'Repent, Harlequin!' Said the Ticktockman" is set in a dystopian future society in which time is regulated by a heavy bureaucratic hand known as the Ticktockman. The rebellious Everett C. Marm flouts convention, masquerading as the anarchic Harlequin, disrupting the precise schedule with bullhorns and jellybeans in a world where being late is nothing short of a crime. But when his love, Pretty Alice, betrays Everett out of a desire to return to the punctuality to which she is programmed, he is forced to face the Ticktockman and his gauntlet of consequences. The bonus essay included in this volume, "Stealing Tomorrow," is a hard-to-find Harlan Ellison masterwork, an exploration of the rebellious nature of the writer's soul. Waxing poetic on humankind's intellectual capabilities versus its emotional shortcomings, the author depicts an inner self that guides his words against the established bureaucracies, assuring us that the intent of his soul is to "come lumbering into town on a pink-and-yellow elephant, fast as Pegasus, and throw down on the established order." Winner of the Prometheus Hall of Fame Award, "'Repent, Harlequin!' Said the Ticktockman" has become one of the most reprinted short stories in the English language. Fans of George Orwell's Nineteen Eighty-Four and Aldous Huxley's Brave New World will delight in this antiestablishment vision of a Big Brother society and the rebel determined to take it down. The perfect complement, "Stealing Tomorrow" is a hidden gem that reinforces Ellison's belief in humankind's inner nobility and the necessity to buck totalitarian forces that hamper our steady evolution.

Written on the Heart-David Edgar 2015 After almost a century of unrest, the King James Bible was intended to end the violent upheavals of the English Reformation. But deep-seated discord forces a leading translator to confront the betrayal of his youthful religious ideals for the sake of social peace. The play begins with a heated debate about last-minute revisions to the new version, taking place in the Holborn house of Bishop Lancelot Andrewes in 1610. It then backtracks first to Flanders in 1536 to show us the outlawed William Tyndale smuggling his biblical translation out of prison, and then to Yorkshire in 1586 to demonstrate the unresolved tensions inside the Protestant Reformation. At the heart of the play is a long scene in which Andrewes debates at length with the ghost of Tyndale, who had been burnt at the stake almost 70 years earlier.
